Handwritten symbols or characters, possibly bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

Handwritten scribble or mark at the bottom left.

A large, vertical table or ledger occupies the right half of the page. It consists of approximately 25 columns and 100 rows. The table is highly obscured by heavy black noise and artifacts, likely from the scanning process. The content within the cells is illegible, but the grid structure is apparent.

A vertical line or mark on the right side of the page, possibly a page number or a separator.
